"THE DOVER ROAD" FINAL PRODUCTION OF '28 VERY SUCCESSFUL

Well Coached Cast Brings Out Potentialities of Play.

Enthusiastic applause given to "The Dover Road" Friday and Saturday evenings crowned the last dramatic presentation of the class of 1928 with unqualified success. The three-act comedy by A. A. Milne was well chosen as entertainment for Seniors and their friends, and the cast, ably coached by Professor William Northrop Morse, brought out the full quota of absurdity in the play.

Ethel Palmer, as Anne, was easily the star of the performance. Her adequately interpreted changes of mood and manner, the vitality and charm of her acting, the real personality in her stage presence all were factors in her outstanding work Friday and Saturday evenings.

Clarence Young, as Latimer with the unusual matrimonial theories, played a role somewhat analogous to that of Crichton in a previous performance, and in "The Dover Road" was finer still. He has an ease and confidence of manner, an apt use of gestures and a sympathy of interpretation that should carry him far in dramatic work if his voice received more careful attention and training. The varied roles he has played in college and his notable success in "The Dover Road" are promising indeed.

Richard Gould as Dominic, the best of butlers, was in his element and performed delightfully, staying in part perfectly, without overdoing the procedure. His part was one of the chief sources of humor in the play and as such was completely satisfactory.

John Walker was fine in the second act when his sneezes and his suffering with the cold that caught him so inopportunely were realistic and comic in the extreme. Pauline Sanford, depicting Eustacia's interest in cosseting, shone especially in her sobbing scenes, but her entire acting was

ROSE MARCHIANO '29 SINGLES CHAMPION OF WOMEN'S COLLEGE

Defeats Emmeline Freeborn 6-4, 5-7, and 6-3.

Rose Marchiano '29 of Mount Kisco, N. Y., became the tennis singles champion of the women's college when she defeated Emmeline Freeborn '29 in two out of three sets Thursday morning.

Miss Marchiano took the first set 6-4. The second set went to Miss Freeborn after a hard struggle ending in 7-5. Finally Miss Marchiano decisively took the remaining set 6-3. Miss Freeborn lost many points by outside shots, and was not up to her best form. Miss Marchiano played a neat placement game and appeared sure of every ball.

Miss Marchiano has been in the tennis finals each year since entering college and was runner-up her freshman year. Previous to the strict enforcement of the major and minor rulings this spring she held the unique record of being elected to each All-Middlebury team that had been chosen during the past three years. She was also head of hockey. She is the new president of the Women's Athletic Association and was recently elected to membership in Mortar Board, national women's honorary society. Miss Marchiano is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

Besides alumni of the college and Middlebury friends, there were many out of town guests present including Governor Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Abernethy of Burlington, Judge and Mrs. Cowles of Burlington, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Johnson of Barre, Bishop Booth, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Kendall of Montpelier and Mrs. Bertha Oppenheim of Ferrisburg.

PANTHER DEFEATS WILLIAMS; LOSES TO U.V.M., TIES NORWICH

Prospects Bright For Next Year—Only Three Graduating.

By WARD S. YUNKER

May 26 saw the reign of Klevenow come to an end and from that time on Hessler, who will be head baseball coach next year, took charge of the team and in the last two games put an aggregation on the field that proved to be a fighting one and although they lost to Vermont by a 7 to 5 count, they came right back and tied Norwich, in an abbreviated game, 1 to 1, and won from Williams in a close game by a score of 2 to 1. The team fell apart in the first three innings of the Vermont game, but struggled back to its feet and put up a whale of a battle for the rest of the game so that at one time it looked as though they might win after all. Hessler seemed to instill a hustle and fight to the crew which had been missing up to the last part of the game with the Cats. The game with Norwich was close throughout the six innings and the team played well behind the fine pitching of "Red" Cook. Whittemore pitched a classy game against Williams and was backed to the limit by a fighting crew of Blue clad ball tossers who seemed to play with more confidence than at any time previous. Prospects seem very bright for next year, especially as Vermont loses practically their whole nine by graduation. Simmons, March, and Captain Whitemore are the only regulars on this year's Panther nine to graduate.

Middlebury 2; Williams 1.

Captain Hal Whittemore, pitching his last game for Middlebury, let Williams down with 5 hits and one run on June 1 and won a neat mound duel from Singemaster by the score of 2 to 1. Middlebury made seven hits and only committed one error to flash to an impressive win. The team played the best brand of baseball that it has shown all season.

Humeston started the fireworks with a long triple to deep left field. Dick's clout would have cleared the fence if it had not hit a tree in deep left field. While Sorensen was being thrown out at first, Humeston crossed the platter with the first run, which as the game wore on seemed to be enough.

With the Williams team eating out of Whittemore's hand, things looked bright for a shut out, but the seventh inning ruined this hope. Tyson, the visting first baseman singled, went to second on a sacrifice hit and continued on to third while Singemaster was being thrown out by Kelley. Willis let one of Hal's low ones get away from him and Tyson scored to knot the count at one all.

Entering the last half of the ninth inning with the score tied, the prospects of an extra inning game seemed good, but were shortlived as the first

'29 KALEIDOSCOPE MAKES OFFICIAL DEBUT ON CAMPUS

Largest and Most Artistic Of Middlebury Annuals.

The 1929 Kaleidoscope made its initial appearance on the campus at chapel, Friday, June 1, when the first copy from the bindery was presented to President Moody by Frank DeWitt, editor of the annual.

This year's annual is a book of about 300 pages dedicated to the "Three-fold progress of Middlebury college; spiritual, educational, and material as symbolized by the Old Chapel and Mead Memorial Chapel." The chapel motif is used throughout the book. The cover has upon it a representation of Mead Memorial chapel; the Junior section has alternate backgrounds in outline of the old chapel and new chapel and all the pages except those in the view section have a border showing in silhouette the old chapel, Hepburn and new chapel. The view section has a drawing of the new library worked into the border. All the background and borders are done in the same shade of light blue.

The book is reviewed below:

Kaleidoscope Review

To review the history of the Kaleidoscope is to review the economic history of Middlebury College. The Junior class year books of earlier times have occasionally been sorry affairs in which the financial and editorial limitations of the producers have been only too obvious. But of late our Kaleidoscopes have been a real credit to the institution, altogether worthy of comparison with the annuals of larger and wealthier colleges. Finally appears the 1929 Kaleidoscope, a book which surpasses all predecessors not only in the scope of its ambitions, but also in the successful manner in which these ambitions have been realized. It is at once the largest, the most artistic and the most sumptuous Kaleidoscope which has, to our knowledge, ever been published.

One cannot expect too much originality in the make-up of any year book. After the publication of forty or fifty volumes in as many years, it is a rare editorial board which can find material for any innovation whatsoever. But there are several distinctive and pleasing features in the 1929 publication. The background designs of the new library and the Hepburn-Mead Chapel row are exceedingly effective. Novel, too, is the insertion of actual photographic reproductions of fraternity and club insignia. The editors of this new Kaleidoscope have apparently been willing to accept the natural limits of good taste and while they have made the most of every opportunity for new material, they have never once departed into the cheap or flamboyant.

The most unsatisfactory feature of the book is the group photography. This seems extremely ill done, in some cases faces are indistinguishable. The campus photograph section which opens the book is, however, of unusual beauty and distinction.

Very effective, too, is the well designed and excellently executed cover. The use of the chapel motive throughout the Kaleidoscope gives the decorative element the necessary organization and unity.

The 1929 Kaleidoscope board is to be heartily congratulated on their achievement. It is an important one, for our memories of college in after years necessarily center around our own class year book. Fortunate the class of 1929 whose recollections can be so pleasantly brought to mind.

Bristol Chatterton '29 Wins Swift Essay Prize

Bristol Chatterton '29 of Vergennes was announced as the winner of the Swift essay prize, awarded annually to the student of the men's college writing the best paper on the subject, "The World Does Not Owe Me a Living."

Chester Sloat '29, who won the prize last year, was given honorable mention for his essay, in recognition of which he is given his tuition next year. Honorable mention was also made of the papers submitted by W. Storrs Lee and Charles F. Malam, both of the graduating class.

CATHERINE HODGES FIRST RECIPIENT OF THE OPTIMA PRIZE

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Baldwin Give $5,000 Foundation For Annual Award.

Catherine E. Hodges '29 of Woodhaven, N. Y., is the first recipient of the Optima Prize of $250 awarded annually to that member of the junior class who is considered most typical of Middlebury College. Mrs. Roger S. Baldwin, donor of the award, presented the prize and the Optima medal to Miss Hodges at Chapel, Friday, June 1.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Baldwin have established a $5,000 foundation for the Optima Prize in memory of Henry Hobart Vail, for many years a trustee of the college, and in appreciation of benefits derived by their daughter Catherine, now Mrs. Roger Keeney of Grand Rapids, Michigan. Mrs. Keeney was for two years a member of the class of 1929.

Character, scholarship and personality are the bases upon which the Optima Prize is made. The junior class has a two-thirds vote, and a committee of the faculty one-third.

Miss Hodges was vice-president of the Student Government Association last year, and is the senior representative on the Council for the coming year. She has been active in Y. W. C. A. and in athletics. She is on the Panhellenic Council and was on the Sophomore Hop Committee. Miss Hodges is a member of Mortar Board and of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

BETA PSI INSTALLS LOCAL DELTA SIGMA

All Fraternities of College Now Members of National Societies.

The Middlebury chapter of Delta Sigma was installed Saturday evening, June 9, as the Delta Beta chapter of Beta Psi, a national fraternity which was founded at the University of Illinois in 1920. Beta Psi has chapters in several mid-western colleges including University of Illinois, Armour and Cornell where its strongest chapters are located. In the past few years it has been expanding, aiming toward some of the eastern colleges.

The new chapter was founded at Middlebury in 1925 and at present has seventeen members. This is the last organization to join a national society, all fraternities on the campus now being national. The pin of the fraternity is a pearled beta superimposed on a gold psi, both of which are on an inverted gold triangle as a base.

The installation was held in the fraternity rooms. The installing officers were Walter A. Stark, President of the National Fraternity, and W. E. Muir. After the installation, a banquet was held at the Middlebury Inn. The guests at the banquet were Bruno M. Schmidt, faculty representative of the fraternity, Mr. Edgar J. Wiley, and Dr. Stephen A. Freeman.

PRESIDENT MOODY PREACHES ON LIFE WORK TO GRADUATES

Baccalaureate Treats of Interrelation of Life.

President Moody gave the baccalaureate address to members of the class of 1928 and their guests in Mead Memorial Chapel, Sunday morning, June 17. He emphasized the dependence of human beings upon one another and especially those qualities of mind with which we should view existence in general.

In his sermon, President Moody took his text from John IV:38, "Others have labored and ye are entered into their labor." He said in part:

"It is characteristic of great minds that what would be ordinary to lesser men becomes important. For the more you look about you, the more you think, the more you realize how true it is that others have labored, and ye have entered into their labor.

"Others have labored for this college. And ye have entered into their labor. I am thinking less of the physical labor, past and present, than of the great heritage of learning.

"But I am thinking of the centuries of patient struggle by which man has gained, if not a mastery, at least a foothold in one field of knowledge after another.

"Think of the centuries of study in physiology, the various steps from crude superstition, reflection of which we can still see amid primitive people today, who try to exercise demons where the modern physician treats for diptheria.

"Think of the painful steps by which we have come to the knowledge which the scool boy has of the world in which we live. Remember not only the glory of Columbus, whose exploit laid for all time the delusion that the world was flat; remember his years of penury and neglect, while he was true to his ideal.

"Time would fail to speak of the slow years by which astrology became astronomy or alchemy became chemistry, or the thousands of lovers of truth who toiled now adding a stone to the temple of knowledge, sometimes only helping to carry the stones, sometimes dying under the effort to move it to its place.

"What is the meaning of all this for you? In our imaginative moments we may be foolish enough to think that we live to ourselves and die to ourselves, or what we know we owe to our own industry or brilliance. The way to correct this is to think ourselves back a hundred years, or better, five hundred years. What would we have known? Then we begin to see our debt of obligation to the past and just what we owe to the nameless thousands who generation after generation have shifted back and back the frontier of ignorance. Then we see how others have labored and we have entered into their labor.

"There are few sensations more warming to the heart than gratitude. It is really rare. The cynic has defined it as 'a lively sense of favors to be received in the future.' But the realization of favors received and their worth is one of the happiest sensations in the world.

"Nearly akin to this is humility. Not the frowning, false humility of a Uriah Heep, which we justly despise, but a true sense of our attainment againse a background of realization of what other men have done. Nearly all great men are humble. The secret of the two is one. A man becomes great because he associates himself with a great cause, or has done a great piece of work. And to such a man his accomplishment which the world applauds is so incomparably inferior to his dream or hope that he is always humble.

"Humility and gratitude grow from

THE STRENGTH OF THE HILLS.

Tomorrow morning there will meet in Mead Memorial chapel a group which met for the first time almost four years ago. But then it was not a group, but merely a collection of individuals, each with his own particular worry, or ambition, or plans. Tomorrow they meet as one, sharing each other's worries, plans, ambitions. What has caused the change?

Friendships have been formed during these four years which are stronger than any formed before or that will be formed later. Youth, leisure, common interests, have all been factors in the building up of these bonds, and the absence of these factors will prevent, to a large extent, the formation of such close friendships again.

Tomorrow evening the class of '28 will again be made up of individuals, each with his own problems to solve. But each one will be the more capable of mastering the difficulties before him because of that something which has been added to his life by the friendships made in college.

CONSERVATIVE.

Middlebury is often accused of being too conservative. A brief resume of advances made during the past year should convince even the most radically inclined that Middlebury is, on the contrary, one of the most progressive of eastern colleges. Whether or not this is because she has lagged behind her contemporaries until lately is not the question. At present she is on the right track and going strong.

To the student, perhaps the most important change may seem to be that of allowing the two upper classes practically unlimited cuts. This gives a large portion of the undergraduate body more freedom in regard to class attendance than is enjoyed in any Vermont college and probably as much as is found in any college of the east. We think the success of the plan has been amply demonstrated during the past year. Not that students do not cut more; they do, but they cut more wisely. Instead of cutting quizzes or saving all three cuts to be used in the last week the student absents himself from those class meetings when he thinks he can use the time to better advantage.

The year course system is another plan which enables the student to lay more stress on what he really wants to get out of a course and less on the bare routine requirements. The latter plan is only the first step of a series which will lead to the comprehensive examination system now in effect at Harvard, and in our own French and Economics departments.

A special week has been set aside at the beginning of the year for the purpose of instructing the freshman in the various matters of college routine. A new athletic field is being built. Students have been admitted to the student life committee. A full time director of public relations has been hired to look after the publicity of the college.

As we go along we hardly notice these changes, coming as they do in the midst of weekly tests, football season, commencement, etc., but as we look back over the past year we note with some pride that Middlebury is by no means conservative—in the derogatory sense of the word.

BLUE BABOON REVIEW

Lord Munsany once said that one should never write for publication unless the urge for writing was so strong that it could not be controlled—unless the inspiration was so vivid and keen that its pressure was unmistakable. That is good advice for all young writers to follow, humorists included. Much bad writing might thereby be consigned to oblivion, much needless torture obviated.

Of all gifts, humor is the gift of the Gods—a gift not to be won either by cajoling or flattery or even by sincere worship. One realizes that such is the organization of the Universe when one reads the current Blue Baboon. It is not a positively bad publication—it is probably as good as most of its kind, but as one hopefully turns the pages, one is continually confronted by the question—is it worth the expenditure of time and money? Many of the jokes are positively vulgar—witness: "Pa can hock his teeth." In a group of inebriates such humor might raise a laugh, but it is scarcely fit for publication. We suppose that Middlebury must have a humorous publication, otherwise the institution is not a college. So let us by all means help our Blue Baboon board along .But let us banish fond memories of "Punch"!

the same stem. Just as no vice ever exists alone, so no virtue does. The coward is usually a liar. The brave man is usually generous, and humility and gratitude are as inseparable as the two sides of a sheet of paper.

"When we realize the full meaning of this verse either in reference to life itself, or to the more limited field of scholarship, we see that we are reaping the results of others' sowing; that others have labored and we have entered into their labor. In the light of what we have received in comparison with what we have attained ourselves, how can we be other than grateful or humble?

"And so, loyal. Almost invariably the loyal alumnus of an institution is one with a sense of gratitude and a humble spirit.

"Read the Gospels again and you will see that this is the Christian attitude. Isaih, in a prevision, drew a picture of one who could not break a bruised reed, or quench a smoking flax. And Jesus answered the desciption of this picture. Humble, a carpenter. Grateful, offering thanks in the solemn shadow of the cross. Loyal?The word takes on a new meaning when applied to him.

"MEMBERS OF THE SENIOR CLASS: Can you remember, as you go out into the crowded years which lie before you, that always the best you can do will have about it something which is owing to those who went before, to parents or teachers or friends, that others labored and you have entered into their labor? Can you remember that nothing you can learn or have learned is independent of centuries of study and thought? Can you remember that without the advantages you have had you might be even more pitiable than those you pity?

"If you can, you will not be deaf to new voices through pride, for you will be humble; you will never be blind to fresh knowledge for you will be humble. You will never grow old, though your bodies may, for the humble, childlike mind is ever young and growing, and age begins only when growth ceases. And for you this world will always be a temple of God, and the prayer of the Psalmist, that he might dwell in the house of the Lord, will be answered for you.

good. "Al" Leahy made an attractive Nicholas and was characteristically pleasing throughout.

Additional color and touches of humor were added by the staff whose costumes were especially intriguing. Grant Lavery, Harry Brooks, Jane Carrick and Zella Cole made a capable crew and delighted their audience.

BLUE TRACK TEAM WINS EVERY MEET; RECORDS BROKEN

Sixteen Letters Awarded to Winners of State Title.

Sixteen men were awarded letters in track after chapel, Thursday, May 31, as follows: Captain Arnold '28, William Donald '28, Milan Palmer Gilbert Smith '29, Ronald Burrows '29, Folke Gruggel '29, J. Malcolm Williams '29, Russell Schmidt '29, Valmer Goltry '30, Robert Dalton '30, Carle Bagley '30, Frederick Sherman '31, Gerald Thayer '31, Samuel Guarnaccia '30, Manager Lindsley '28 and Assistant Manager Lawrence '29.

Followers of Middlebury's track activities have great reason to be elated over the record compiled by the 1928 team. Of the dual meets with St. Lawrence and R. P. I. the cohorts of the Blue have come through victorious on each occasion, while the state championship was taken in easy fashion. With but five letter men graduating, all signs point to a most successful season next year. Captain Arnold, Donald, Palmer, Brooks and Jones will be sorely missed, but most of the squad will be left intact for further competion.

Notwithstanding the uniform bad weather, which made intensive practice out of the question, two college records were broken, Bagley setting a new mark in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 10 5-8 inches, and Williams in the pole vault with 10 feet 10 11-16 inches.

Early in March, Coach Brown called out the squad with the expectation of rounding a good team into shape for the Northeastern meet. But the inexorable weather man would permit of no real training, often keeping the squad idle for days at a time. Tryouts were held, however, and the men selected made the trip to Boston. But here again the elements made a quagmire of the field and the meet had to be called off.

Not disheartened by the cancellation of this meet, the squad went to work with renewed vigor for the contest with St. Lawrence. Journeying to Canton May 5, the team made short work of their opponents, and returned home victorious by an 87 1-2 to 47 1-2 score. Captain Arnold and Butler in the distances, Smith in the sprints, Goltry, Burrows and Thayer in the middle distances, starred on the track. Guarnaccia, with a double win in the discus and shot put, Schmidt, Williams and Bagley in the javelin, pole vault, and high jump were outstanding in the field.

R. P. I. came to Middlebury and was soundly trounced by the Panther to the tune of 54-81. Captain Arnold, Smith, Sherman and Donald won in the track events, while Guarnaccia and Williams duplicated their victories of the previous week. Palmer came through with a first place in the hammer throw. Dalton and Butler ran well in the two mile to take second and third places behind Clulee of R. P. I. Thayer, freshman phenomenon, took second place from Leiberum of R. P. I. in the half, in a hair raising finish. To add the finishing touch, "Mac" Williams raised the pole vault record with a splendid leap of 10 feet 10 11-16 inches.

The state championship was held at Porter Field May 9, and after a nip and tuck struggle with U. V. M., the Panther emerged the winner with 64 1-6 points. Vermont collected 47 1-2 markers, while Norwich, outclassed save in three events, could get but 23 1-3.

The battle between Middlebury and Vermont was close at first, and at one stage the upstaters led by a slight margin. But when Bill Donald, Thayer and Arnold took their places in the half, victory was assured. Capt. Arnold, undefeated all season, took the mile in easy fashion. Gilly Smith flashed down the track to scintillant victories in the 100 and 220, while Goltry and Burrows ran one-two in the quarter.

Bagley set a new state and college record in the high jump with a mark of 5 feet 10 5-8 inches. Guarnaccia won the discus throw, and Williams took the pole vault easily. Palmer, in his last competition under the Blue, did well in taking second to Plumley, of Norwich in the javelin throw. Vermont came through with victories in the shot put, hammer, broad jump, and high hurdles, but lost unexpectedly in the two mile when Wood, in his last race for the Green, failed to place. Norwich uncovered a good runner in Brinckley who won this event in the fine time of 10 minutes 10 seconds which was fast going for the muddy condition of the track.

VARSITY GOLF MEN DEFEAT NORWICH

Win Two Foursome Matches and Five Twosomes In Return Match.

The varsity golf team defeated Norwich by the score 7-2 in a return match played Tuesday, May 29, on the Burlington Country Club links. The team showed a decided improvement in playing since the last match and was able to take five twosome matches and two foursomes. Webber and Edy were the only ones to win all their matches, both twosomes and foursomes, this season.

This is the first year that Middlebury has had a golf team and it has been in the nature of an experiment. However next year a more extensive schedule is planned including matches with four or five colleges other than Vermont and Norwich. Next year letters will be awarded to the men playing on the regular team.

Summary:

TROPHY OF TROPHIES IS WON BY DELTA KAPPA EPSILON

Dekes Win Major Championships; K. D. R. Takes Second Place.

By winning the championships in basketball, baseball, and track, Delta Kappa Epsilon captured the Trophy of Trophies as an emblem of athletic supremacy of Intramural sports for the year 1927-28. Last year's champions, the K. D. R.'s finished in second place and D. U. ended up in third place. The Dekes won their points in the events which counted the most and so were able to pile up more points than the rest of the fraternities.

The Golf Tournament opened up the Intramural scramble and the Dekes took second place, finishing behind Delta Upsilon. The winter sports and handball championships were again won by Kappa Delta Rho, with D. U. second in the winter sports and Sigma Phi Epsilon the runners up in the handball tourney.

Basketball was the first major tournament and furnished the most thrills of the year. The going was close throughout and the Neutrals tied with D. K. E. for first place, but lost in the playoffs. Losing to Delta Upsilon in the first game while the fast Neutral five was breezing along to one victory after another did not make the Dekes' chances seem any too bright, but staging a thrilling battle with their rivals, the fellows of D. K. E. won to tie the race up in a knot. Both of these quintets won their remaining games and so a playoff was necessary. The Neutrals, crippled through the loss of Bullukian, their high scoring forward, put up a hard battle, but could not stave off defeat and Delta Kappa Epsilon won out 16 to 9.

The D. K. E. track team scored 16 points to win the Intramural meet and clinch the Trophy of Trophies on Memorial Day. S. P. E. was second and K. D. R. third. The all around strength of the Dekes won the meet for them over the other teams who were strong in some events but were not well balanced.

Playing a thrilling thirteen inning game on Porter Field in two sections as it was halted at the end of the fourth inning Memorial Day, the Delta Kappa Epsilon baseball team won another championship for themselves by downing the K. D. R. nine, last year's champions, 5 to 4. Crawford and Hoyle locked horns in a pretty hurling dual with big "Peter" winning out over the more chunky "Moon." Staging a four run rally in the sixth inning, the Dekes wiped out a two to nothing lead, but the K. D. R.'s scored two runs in the ninth to knot the count. "Mike" Furbush's single in the thirteenth with Crawford on third won the game for D. K. E.

K. D. R. and S. P. E. were the finalists in the tennis tournament, but due to inclement weather the courts have been in no condition to play off the championship and with the coming of exams, the playoff was cancelled.

The following week in its first home game, the team defeated Norwich 2-0. The second home game was played against the strong undefeated Clarkson sextet February 13. The game was close throughout, but the Middlebury team proved itself to be the stronger and won by the score 3-2. The following day, the team journeyed to Burlington where they added another victory to their credit by defeating U. V. M. 9-0. In the final game of the season, the team succeeded in defeating Vermont in a return game 2-1 in an overtime period. D.K.E DEFEATS K. D. R IN FINAL BASEBALL GAME

Dekes Win Baseball Trophy By Taking 13 Inning Game 5 to 4.

In a thriller of a game, the D. K. E. baseball team conquered last year's intramural champion K. D. R. nine by a score of 5 to 4. The contest went thirteen innings before the new champions could step out and win. The champions of last year put up a hard fight and tied the score in the ninth after all seemed lost, but could not hit when hits meant runs and with Crawford on third in the thirteenth, Mike Furbush singled to win the game for D. K. E.

After playing three and one-half innings Memorial day, the game was called on account of rain and it was decided to play right on from this inning when the game was replayed. The K. D. R.'s scored two runs in the first and so were in the lead when the game was resumed. The Dekes, however, were not dismayed and in the sixth inning came crashing through with four runs and apparently had the game sewed up for good.

When the ninth inning opened, the K. D. R.'s found themselves staring a two run defeat in the face, but by combining two hits with an error, two runs were chased over the platter and the count knotted at four runs apiece.

K. D. R. placed men on the bags in each inning from the ninth on, but could not produce the necessary hits and went scoreless. D. K. E. won the game in the thirteenth when after Goltry had fanned, Foote singled. Crawford forced Foote and then on a hit and run play went to third while Sherman was being thrown out by Hoffman. Furbush singled to score Crawford with the winning run. The pitching of Crawford and Hoyle and the hitting of Owen featured.

Plans have been completed for the final outstanding social event of the year, the Senior Ball, which will take place tonight at the gymnasium. Following the dance, the seinors will go up to the Mead Chapel, where they will hold their last service as undergraduates of Middlebury. This will be only for members of the graduating class.

The senior ball committee which has worked hard to make this affair a charming success includes: George R. RICHARD AMERMAN WINS PARKER PRIZE SPEAKING CONTEST

C. A. Hazen Awarded Second; Robinson and Davport Tie for Third.

Richard H. Amerman of Brooklyn, New York, won first prize at the Parker Prize speaking contest held Tuesday evening, May 29 in the Mead Memorial Chapel. C. A. Hazen took second honors, and F. L. Robinson and R. C. Davenport tied for third place. The prizes were for $50, $35 and $45 divided. The judges were Professors Everett Skillings, Frank Cady, H. M. Fife, Charles Abbott and Julius Kingsley. Professor William Northrop Morse presided.

Mr. Amerman's prize essay was entitled "The Myth of Militarism," in which he endeavored to show that there is no foundation in the belief that America is becoming militarized. Preparedness is necessary to save the country from a repetition of futile waste of energy as occurred during the late war. The summer camps and the R. O. T. C.s are a step toward preparedness without introducing militarism. In concluding his speech, Mr. Amerman said, "It would be extremely difficult for anyone to draw a parallel between a truly militaristic nation, such as the pre-war Germany, and the United States of today. Militarism is a spirit and not a system of training. If actual participation in war and intensive training for a long period of time could not make this nation militaristic, we need not fear her imbibing that spirit from two hours per week of rudimentary training and drill in some few of our schools and colleges today."

Mr. Hazen spoke on "Moulds of Christianity." In his talk he elaborated on those ways in which one can become and remain a true Christian. He finished with a poem dealing with a man who had sacrificed his life for others, and would get his reward in heaven.

Mr. Robinson also spoke on religion in his talk on "The Christ and the Buddha." The reason why Christianity is not spreading more in the East, he said, is because the so-called Christian nations are not using Christian methods in dealing with the natives. Mr. Robinson also argued that Christian doctrines, on the whole, were more satisfactory than Buddhism, and that Christian countries were the more enlightened and progressive.

Mr. Davenport's speech was entitled "The Curved Mirror." It dealt with the current misconceptions which the world in general entertains about American colleges. Undergraduates are sick and tired of being held up to ridicule by the movies and periodicals which have been misrepresenting college life to the outside world. Several colleges, realizing the harm these magazines are doing, have refused reprint rights to "College Humor" and other papers of the same sort. "This," said Mr. Davenport, "represents a step in the right direction.

Max Miller spoke on "War." C. P. Brink took "The Psychology of Bolshevism" for his topic. Hubert Gosselin talked on "Proving Our Worth," and Alden Utton on "As a Civilization —Where are we Today?"

Bosworth President Of English Club

Raymond F. Bosworth '29 of West Haven, Conn., was recently elected president of the English Club for the coming year. The other officers are: vice president, Margaret L. Boyden '29; secretary-treasurer, Edwin Waite '29.

Mr. Bosworth has been prominent in dramatic and literary lines while in college. He has been a member of Wig and Pen for the last two years, and in addition to parts in several big plays, he had the lead in the junior play, "Square Crooks." His own play, "The Blessed Vagrants" was awarded the first of the Swift prizes. Mr. Bosworth won the Saxonian short story contest last fall and has since been elected contributing editor of the board. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Baseball Nine Wins, Loses and Ties One

two men up put the game on the ice. Jacobs got his second double of the game and then Willis singled over short to score Jacobs with the winning run.

The entire team played well behind the excellent pitching of Whittemore and showed that with more coaching it can be developed into a first class aggregation. There was more fire and dash to the play than there has been at any time during the rest of the season. The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E

Middlebury 1; Norwich 1

Rain interrupted a pretty hurling duel at Northfield, Memorial Day, as Cook and Waining, of Norwich, were both going great when it started to pour at the end of the sixth inning necessitating the calling of the game. Middlebury had collected but two hits of Waining's portside slants, but had made those two hits produce a run. Norwich, on the other hand, had connected safely 5 times, but had to have the aid of an error to score.

Middlebury drew first blood by scoring in the very first inning. Franzoni drew a free ticket to the initiial sack and was sacrificed to second by Hasseltine. Anderson connected with the ball for what looked like a sure hit, but the first baseman made a nice catch and there was two down. Humeston slammed a long high fly to deep center which Coane misjudged and Franzoni trotted home while Dick reached the midway station. Sorensen was out on a bunt, to end the inning.

Cook was in trouble the first inning, when after Kane had skied to Humeston, Cannon drew a base on balls and Coane singled. The next two batters flied out so the danger was postponed. It came again in the second however and this time it was more potent. Aimi singled, but was forced by O'Donnell. Whitesides drew a base on balls and then Waining singled to fill the bases. Kane hit to Franzoni who threw to Kelley to force Waining, and Kelley caught Kane off with a fast throw for a perfect double play, but Sorensen dropped the ball and Kane was safe, O'Donnell scoring on the play. Cannon struck out to end the inning.

Both pitchers went strong from the second on and it looked as though the game would go extra innings, but the rain put an end to this notion. After waiting for a while to see if the down pour would let up, the game was called. The score:

Middlebury	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	2	1
Norwich	0	1	0	0	0	0	1	5	1

Batteries: Cook and Willis; Waining and Cusson.

Vermont 7; Middlebury 5.

Staking Vermont to a seven run lead in the first three innings was more than the Panther could make up for and although the team put up a bitter fight to the end, was once more forced to accept defeat at the hands of the Catamounts by the score of 7 to 5, at Burlington May 28. Hingston started on the pitching rubber for Middlebury and was touched for 6 hits in three innings. The infield made six errors in these same three innings.

Conway got on base in the first inning through an error by Anderson and scored when Kelley mussed up Prentice's hopper and then Cogswell singled. Four more runs came in the second on two hits and three errors. Thrice more did the upstaters tally in the third on hits by Price and Winchenbach and an error by Franzoni. Simmons took up the hurling assignment in the fourth and had the Cats eating out of his hand for the rest of the game.

The Blue got three runs back in the fourth, on a double by Anderson and Humeston's home run to deep right field, which was followed by a base on balls for Sorensen, who scored on an error and a fielder's choice. Another run trickled over the platter in the seventh when Sorenson led off with a single, went to third on an error by Cogswell and counted on Franzoni's single.

The last tally was chalked up in the eighth when Anderson led off with a double, went to second on a fielder's choice, made third on another infield out and counted on a wild pitch by Schoppe. Simmons pitched a wonderful game from the fourth inning on, allowing but 2 scratch hits.

The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
Midd.	0	0	0	3	0	0	1	1	0	5	7	7
Vermont	1	4	2	0	0	0	0	0	*	7	8	3

Blindfolded . . . in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Princess Paul Chavchavadze selects OLD GOLD

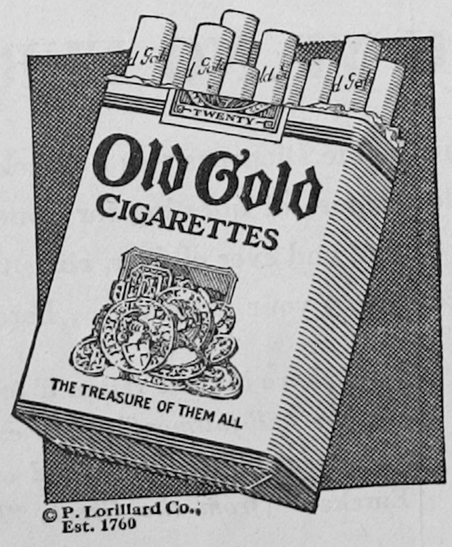
"I was much intrigued by the invitation to make a blindfold test of your leading brands of American cigarettes, to see how they compared with each other and with those I had smoked abroad. Could one really taste the difference? I wondered.

"But when I was handed these cigarettes, one by one, I realized at once that there was a difference and that the test was conclusive. One cigarette was so much more appealing, so much more delicate in flavor. Oh, and so much smoother!

"When the test was over and I was told that the cigarette of my choice was OLD GOLD I understood at once why this cigarette is so popular among my American friends."

Nina Chavchavadze

PRINCESS PAUL CHAVCHAVADZE, Sister of Mrs. Wm. B. Leeds



© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

How Test Was Made

Subject was blindfolded, and, in the presence of two responsible witnesses, was given one each of the four leading cigarettes to smoke. To clear the taste, coffee was served before each cigarette. The Princess was entirely unaware of the identity of these cigarettes during test. After smoking the four cigarettes, the Princess was asked to designate by number her choice. Without hesitation she replied, "No. 3"... which was OLD GOLD.

SEEK YE NO FURTHER, DIOGENES . . .

THIS jobbie Diogenes was a Greek who left his fruit stand for the commendable purpose of questing for honesty by good old-fashioned lamp-light. And now, loud and ever clearer, rings the cry from the housetops: "Diogenes — throw away your lantern . . . here's an honest cigarette! Have a Camel!"

Camels have but one raison d' être—to pack the smoke-spots of the world with the "fill-fullment" every experienced smoker seeks. Fill your own smoke-spot with a cool cloud of Camel smoke, and hear it sing out— "Eureka!" (from the Greek, "Eureka," meaning—"Oboy, here 'tis!").
